OUTDOOR PAINTING

A PHOTOGRAPHIC STORY OF CHILDREN'S CREATIVITY

By JINGSEN ZHONG

Project Overview

Project Type: Event Photography / Personal Project

Role: Photographer

Location: Minghu Park, Foshan, China

This project documents an outdoor painting activity attended by children from an art education centre.

Through a series of photographs, I aimed to capture the atmosphere of the event, the children's creative process, and the small moments that made the experience memorable.

The Setting

ESTABLISHING THE SCENE

A wider perspective introduces the outdoor environment and provides context for the painting activity.

Details of Creation

A CLOSER LOOK

Beyond the wider scenes, small details reveal the textures, movements, and creative process behind each artwork.

Behind the Lens

This project gave me an opportunity to practise event observation, photographic composition, and capturing natural moments.

Putting together this portfolio also helped me understand how establishing shots, candid photographs, and close-up details can work together to tell a visual story.

I look forward to gaining further experience in event and conference photography.
